

Photo Exhibition in Cambridge Living Here in Fukushima — 3.11 and after —

Exactly five years ago, Fukushima faced a triple disaster: an earthquake, a tsunami, and nuclear radiation. This exhibition features witnesses' photos from Fukushima, some taken right after the disaster, others taken over the five years to the present.

Evacuation shelter for nuclear evacuees in Iwaki City, Fukushima Pref. on March 23rd 2011

March 5th, 6th 2016: 1.00 pm – 2.00 pm
March 11th 2016: 11.30 am – 3.00 pm
1 Newnham Terrace, Darwin College Cambridge

Co-organized by Saori Kawazoe (Iwaki Meisei University Disaster Archive) and Julius Weitzdörfer (Darwin College) in collaboration with “Sights and Sounds of Japan - Old Traditions in New Contexts” at the Faculty of Asian and Middle Eastern Studies.

We are grateful for support by Darwin College, the Centre for the Study of Existential Risk, the Faculty of Law, and the project “Protecting the Weak” at the Interdisciplinary Centre for East Asia Studies, Frankfurt. Contact: jfww2@cam.ac.uk